

I have read that there is an accusation against Sinclair Broadcast Group that they have directed their stations to preempt regular programming to air a biased piece against presidential candidate, John Kerry. Whether a media conglomerate is using its power against one party or the other, this tactic does not serve the public interest and, therefore, should be investigated and stopped by the FCC.

As a citizen who has witnessed more and more independent stations bought up by large media groups, I wish to go on record that with my protest that we are not being properly served by the federal government when you allow the the public airwaves to be used to serve private interests.

Please advise.
Thank you.
